

Meet us at Abbey House Gardens Sunday 11 June 2017

Version 2

NAG will be at the 'clothing optional day' at the world famous 13th century Abbey House Gardens, Malmesbury, Wiltshire SN16 9AS on Sunday 11 June. This provides an opportunity for NAG supporters to meet up, along with many other naturists. Emma James has been promoting the event heavily amongst her women naturist friends and the NAG publicity stall will be set up in the Conservatory.

Admission cost at AHG that day will be £7.50 (£6.50 concessions). Whilst the AHG kitchen does provide a range of food and soft drinks at reasonable prices in the Coy Carp Café, the queues tend to be long. Many people take a picnic to eat on the lawns and five acres of grounds in the sunshine. On past experience hundreds of naturists from far and wide attend these 'clothes optional days' to enjoy the various lawns, many types of garden and flowers, the riverside walk – and a paddle perhaps – the amazing sculptures, and the calming atmosphere.
